About

This project involved the refurbishment of 110 hotel rooms in the iconic Mecure Hotel at Wooli Creek in Sydney, adjacent to Sydney International Airport.

The Hotel remained open and fully operational throughout the works and sharing access resources with the Hotel and the mitigation of guest disruption was a key component in this project.

The removal and disposal of asbestos was carried out pursuant to a risk management plan developed by Project Innovations staff.

The works also included the upgrade of essential services and other infrastructure to achieve current BCA and ANZ standards.

Project Innovations sourced, procured and placed the joinery and FF&E for this project.
