About

This project for Star City Casino entailed the reconstruction of the entertainment space previously known as the Showroom Theatre.

The project involved the stripping out and structural reconfiguration of the theatre to provide new modern facilities for patrons.

Like the Endeavour Room project there are significant challenges in the delivery and erection of structural steel elements such as catwalk structures within the existing building envelope.

Through the design input of the contractor, the use of lightweight steel elements and scissor lifts, the installation of major structural steelwork components was completed smoothly without any significant issues.
